Kendall Lily

singer. songwriter. musician.

Most at home in front of a microphone with her guitar, Kendall is an eighteen-year-old singer/songwriter with a love for performing live music. While she typically performs with her acoustic guitar, Kendall also plays electric guitar, piano and drums. With a growing library of her own original songs and catalog of cover songs spanning multiple generations and genres of music, Kendall continues to hone her craft and share her love for music through live performances.

“Music has always been an outlet for me, and my guitar was a great escape from the isolation we all felt over the past few years. Now with the return of live music and performances, I love being able to share the songs I write as well as the cover songs I love to entertain audiences with. Music is a way to connect us all, through song and experience and I love being a part of an artistic community that continues to challenge and support me”. – Kendall Lily
